UNIVERSITY OF ABERDEEN

Founded in 1495, the University of Aberdeen is one of the UK's ancient universities. Ranked 12th in the UK (Guardian University Guide 2025).

Aberdeen is globally recognised for its teaching and research excellence in health, energy, humanities and environmental sciences. This legacy of innovation and academic excellence has contributed to the university's association with five Nobel Prize winners.

Situated next to miles of golden beaches, the university campus combines stunning medieval architecture with state-of-the-art learning facilities, including an Olympic-standard sports centre.

Other campus highlights include King's College, with its chapel and iconic crown tower, the stunning Sir Duncan Rice Library, which was opened in 2012 by Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth, and the serene Cruickshank Botanic Garden, with its nationally significant collection of more than 3,000 plant varieties.

With over 14,000 students from 130 countries, Aberdeen offers a truly international experience. Its flexible degree programmes span a wide range of

IN SCOTLAND

THE World University Rankings 2025

Edinburgh Napier University is proud to be the #1 modern university in Scotland (THE World University Rankings 2025), the #1 university in Edinburgh for student satisfaction (NSS 2020, 2021, 2022, 2023 & 2024), and the top Scottish modern university for research power and impact (REF 2021).

Since our establishment in 1964, we have evolved into a bold, progressive university with a reputation and impact that stretches far beyond our shores.

We have more than 250 undergraduate and postgraduate courses and nearly 20,000 students from over 145 countries studying on campus in Edinburgh, online and at partner universities worldwide.

While we've risen in rankings and grown in scope over the years, we've stayed true to our heritage as a technical institution. For our students and researchers, this means that learning and discovery doesn't just take place in the lab or the classroom—it happens in the real world.

From developing biodegradable seaweed alternatives to plastic, to leading breakthroughs in cyber security and digital forensics, spearheading carbon capture conservation programmes across the world, and creating UN resources to help cities harness digital technology, our research transforms communities globally.

UNIVERSITY OF STIRLING

The University of Stirling, created by Royal Charter in 1967, is a leading UK teaching and research-intensive university, and is Scotland's University for Sporting Excellence.

The University of Stirling has a global community of over 18,500 students and more than 140 nationalities represented on our central Scotland campus. Less than an hour from Glasgow and Edinburgh, Stirling blends historic charm with the buzz of a young population.

Stirling's international reputation for teaching excellence and high-quality research addresses key global social, economic and cultural challenges. 87% of research has an outstanding or very considerable impact on society, and more than 80% has been rated either world leading or internationally excellent (Research Excellence Framework 2021).

Our 330-acre campus environment is ranked first in the UK and top three in the world, and our sports facilities are ranked first in the UK and top five in the world (The International Student Barometer 2022). Stirling has an overall five-star rating in the QS Stars University Ratings 2024 and is accredited by AACSB International for excellence in business education.
